Brexit 'No-deal' Preparedness

PageOne has undertaken a review of its services, contracts and supply chain to assess what, if any, risks are apparent in the event of a Brexit 'no-deal' scenario as of 1st January 2021

Following an assessment PageOne can confirm that it does not believe its services or contract performance will be adversely affected by a 'no-deal' Brexit scenario and can confirm that: -

- PageOne's operations, networks and services are wholly UK based with no critical service or components being EU reliant or sourced.
- PageOne maintains a diverse supply chain for pager devices and network equipment. No current pager hardware suppliers are EU-based thus mitigating any Brexit effect on EU supply arrangements or future customs tariffs.
- PageOne's service and data/data-centres are wholly UK based and hosted, mitigating any risk of data not being allowed to be stored or processed in the EU.
- PageOne is used to managing, and wherever possible, absorbing equipment price changes that may arise from global currency fluctuations.
- PageOne sees no significant increase in demand for its services as a result of Brexit that could not be satisfied by current operational capacity or stock holdings.
- PageOne is not reliant on EU funding or capital requirements, mitigating any risk of any impact on the flow of funding between the EU and UK.
- PageOne does not believe its human resources would be affected by a more restrictive immigration policy in the future.
